

Kyle Larson

Kyle Larson grew up in Abbotsford before completing his B.Sc at the University of Victoria ('02) and both his M.Sc. ('04) and Ph.D ('09) at Queen's University. Kyle joined the University of Saskatchewan as an Assistant Professor in 2009 before leaving to join UBC's Okanagan Campus in 2012 where he is an Associate Professor in the Department of Earth, Environmental and Geographical Sciences. Kyle specializes in structural geology and tectonics and has spent the last 15 years studying mountain building processes in B.C., the Canadian Arctic, the Middle East, Pakistan, Tibet and Nepal.